Armistice Day Finds National Capital Busy

Seventh Anniversary Saw National Capital Engaged in Business as Usual—President Coolidge Visits Tomb of the Unknown.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 11.—Seven years ago today the most pregnant stillness in all history settled over a war-torn world. The big guns, stretched along a dozen fronts, a third way round the earth, ceased to belch their flaming death, and fifteen million men laid down their arms.

The silence was broken only by the world wide rejoicing of half-crazy, war-worn peoples—Paris was a madhouse, London a bedlam, New York in chaos, Washington little better. They danced the full length of Pennsylvania avenue that night.

Four Years Ago.
Four years ago today saw the impressive burial of the unknown soldier, with Woodrow Wilson, crippled, and Warren G. Harding, radiating health, and the premiers of Europe, following him to his grave in the Virginia hills. The day witnessed, too, the opening of the epochal armistice conference which scrapped half of the world's navies.

Business as Usual.
By contrast, the seventh anniversary of the armistice today saw the national capital engaged in "business as usual."

In an old warehouse, the war was being "fought over again" in the Mitchell court martial; at the Capitol, congressmen were engaged in cutting away the last of the war time taxes; in another hall several hundred delegates were laying the foundation of a great new scientific industry—radio—and everywhere there were signs of "normalcy."

President Visits Unknown Tomb.
President Coolidge, almost alone of public officials, commemorated the anniversary of the great peace, accompanied only by the secretaries of war and navy and Mrs. Coolidge, the president left the White House and moved across the Potomac to the tomb of the unknown.

There at exactly 11 o'clock, the hour of stillness, he stepped quietly to the marble sarcophagus and laid a flower on it. For the full minute, there were bowed heads and quiet stillness.

Then came Mrs. Coolidge to place on the tomb a single rose. That was all.

Elsewhere through the capital, the observance of the peace hour was voluntary.

In many government departments, clerks laid down their pens and typewriters stilled the clicking of letters for two minutes on the 11th of eleven. In many there was no observance at all.

In shops and offices of the city proper, it was "business as usual."

Commemorate Wilson.
Late this afternoon, Bethlehem Chapel, which towers over the city on the heights of Mount St. Albans, will witness another purely voluntary service to commemorate Woodrow Wilson. The chapel is his tomb.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, will deliver a short sermon on the labors and character of the war time president, there will be the soft chanting of a chorus and floral offerings laid above his war-wrecked body.

Memorial Service.
In the marble amphitheater at Arlington there were memorial services, conducted by the Rabbi Morris B. Laxman of Baltimore. One of the quartet of army chaplains that officiated at the burial of the unknown four years ago. In a few of the churches there were special prayer services, and some of the patriotic organizations held short memorial meetings.

Before the marble tomb of the unknown there was a constant stream of visitors.

Soon after the president had left a delegation of women, in black with gold stars gleaming on their bosoms, came reverently by and deposited flowers.

But over the capital as a whole, it was "business as usual."

ROY HUNTER KILLED BY HIS OWN GUN
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 11.—James Hayes, 14, of Cardiff, was killed by his own gun while hunting near his home yesterday. The boy's mother had gone to search for him when the boy shot a short distance away. Jimmy was lying on the ground with his head full of buckshot. He died within a few minutes.

The boy had tried a raccoon and had missed the animal. It is believed one of the boy's dogs knocked it down and it discharged as it fell.

Red Cross Sweaters Needed.
Those who have completed the knitting of sweaters for the Red Cross may leave the sweaters at the Red Cross headquarters, 292 Wall Street. If the headquarters is closed the office in the adjoining building will receive them. There is an urgent need for sweaters at this time.

Complain About Slaughter House

Stock & Cords File Complaint Regarding the Farber & Siller Slaughter House—They Must Abate Nuisance or Forfeit License to Slaughter.

The board of health Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting at the city hall referred to Dr. Daniel Connelly and Dr. Harold Clarke a complaint that had been received from Stock & Cords regarding the Farber & Siller slaughter house at No. 10 Meadow street, in the rear of the furniture store, with full power to revoke the slaughter house license if its proprietors did not at once abate the nuisance of which complaint had been made.

Stock & Cords complained of the stenches and of other unsanitary conditions that existed at the slaughter house property, which is the old Amur property. Dr. Clarke said conditions complained of had existed for some time but evidently were growing worse instead of better. He said there was no reason why Farber & Siller, who operate the slaughter house, could not abate the nuisance by observing proper care in the operation of the slaughter house.

Under the ruling of the health board Tuesday if Farber & Siller do not take immediate steps to better conditions their license to slaughter will be promptly revoked by the board.

Mrs. Webster Benton of No. 200 Foxhall avenue applied for a boarding house license for two children. The license was granted.

Bills and claims against the board were read, and the board then adjourned after adopting the reports of the officers, which will be found elsewhere.

Big Task Faces Commission

Ulster County Has Two Representatives on Commission Which Will Recommend Changes Made Necessary in Reorganizing State Departments.

What universally is conceded to be the most important commission ever created under the laws of the state of New York is the one formed by Governor Smith, Senator John Knight, president of the Senate, and Speaker J. A. McGinnies of the Assembly, to consider and recommend to the Legislature changes in the law made necessary by reason of the adoption by the people of the Constitutional amendment providing for the reorganization of the state departments.

It is composed of leading men and women of both political parties. Its members serve without compensation and simply for the sake of the great service to be rendered to the state.

Among the Republicans are Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes, Senator James W. Wadsworth, Ex-Governors Nathan L. Miller, Benjamin B. Odell and Charles S. Whitman, Nicholas Murray Butler, Judge A. T. Clearwater, Ex-Archbishop General George W. Wickersham, Henry W. Taft, former Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, Thomas Cochrane of J. P. Morgan & Company.

Among the Democrats are Judge Alton B. Parker, Senator Royal S. Copeland, John W. Davis, recently Democratic candidate for the presidency, former Secretary of State Frank L. Polk, former Senator James A. O'Grady, William Church O'Brien, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Judge Robert F. Wagner, Morgan J. O'Brien and Ralph Pulitzer.

More State Census Figures

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Giovanni gained 35 new residents since 1920, according to census figures announced today. The city now has a population of 22,110.

The city of Johnstown has a population of 10,712, a loss of 195 in the last five years.

Fulton county was credited with 46,028 residents, a gain of 1,191 since 1920.

Columbia county has a population of 31,051, a gain of 1,125 in the last five years. From 1915 to 1920 the county lost 449 residents.

PAINLIVE DETERMINED TO RESTORE FRENCH FINANCE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, Nov. 11.—"I give my word that we will defend the franc with the same obstinacy as we defended Verdun," declared Premier Painleve today at a luncheon of the Anglo-American Press Association.

"We are resolved to shrink no responsibility, even risking unpopularity in order to restore the health of French finance," the premier continued.

The results which have already been accomplished are immense, but in addition we are asking the country for $250,000,000 annually to liquidate our public debt."

Georges Bonnet, minister of the budget, declared that the "present financial condition of France is not due to waste but is necessitated by loans for five years of war and five years of reparation of devastated areas."

"We are going to stabilize the budget and little by little repay our public debt. All our engagements will be kept."

Observed Silence For War Dead

Kingston Paid Tribute to World War Dead by Observing Two Minutes of Silence at Eleven O'clock.

The Two Minute Silence was ushered in at 11 o'clock this morning with the ringing of the church and fire bells and the blowing of whistles on all of the city's industrial plants and on the craft in Rondout creek harbor and the Hudson river. The brickyard and boatyard whistles also joined in the chorus, and when the echo of the bells and whistles had died away there followed a profound silence which lasted for two minutes.

Work Generally Suspended.
The Two Minute Silence was generally observed in state and nation. In Kingston it was generally observed by the suspension of all work in the industrial plants and stores, the stopping of traffic generally and also in the city schools when all study halted for the time being.

At High School.
At Kingston High School the Two Minute Silence was preceded by the playing of taps by Martin Spiegel. Flowers had been placed by high school students at the memorial tablet in the main corridor for the six high school students who lost their lives in the World War, and the American Legion Post had placed flowers at each of the memorial trees on the lawn in front of the school.

Prayers for the Dead.
In many homes throughout the city the Two Minute Silence was observed with prayers for the departed heroes who fell in the World War.

The institution of the Two Minute Silence was endorsed by the late President Wilson. It also received the approval of the late President Harding and the endorsement of President Coolidge.

It was instituted as a silent remembrance of the fallen dead to be observed on all Armistice Days throughout the years to come, to pay homage to their memories and for the ideals to uphold which they paid the supreme sacrifice.

Sitamore Linked To Capital Thefts

Man Policeman Bowser Captured at Gun Point on North Front Street Linked to Jewelry Robberies in Washington.

Harry Sitamore, the man of many aliases, who was arrested at the point of a gun by Policeman Harold Bowser on North Front street on Saturday afternoon, is being linked with jewelry robberies committed at Washington, D. C., according to the New York newspapers of this morning. The New York city police have also established the car in which Sitamore and his wife were riding when arrested by Policeman Bowser is owned by a New Orleans woman.

The New York Times today says: The police and the district attorney remained silent yesterday on the new evidence in the murder of Louise Lawson, who was choked to death two years ago in her apartment in West Seventy-seventh street.

The clue in the case was obtained in the examination of Harry Sitamore, Sitamore, charged with participating in the robbery of Mrs. Howard Johnson, wife of the music composer, who was assaulted in the Hotel Almac in May, 1924, and with having had a hand in the assault and robbery of Mrs. Mildred Ford, who was held up in her West Fifty-seventh street apartment soon after the Johnson affair, was reported by the police as supplying the new information.

The police established that the coupe bearing the license plate of 27249 Louisiana, in which Sitamore was arrested, was owned by Mrs. M. Gilbert of 2432 St. Charles avenue, New Orleans. Sitamore was on his way from New Orleans when arrested. Detectives admitted that they had been "tipped off" to his progress, north, and had missed him by several days at Memphis.

The New York Herald-Tribune says: Otto Deutch, a Washington jeweler from whom he is charged to have obtained $10,000 in jewelry, and William Rosendorf, a Washington farmer from whose shop Sitamore is charged with having stolen $8,500, arrived in New York Tuesday accompanied by Washington detectives.

Sitamore remained a prisoner in the Tombs and it is not thought likely that he will be arraigned on the new New York indictments until Thursday when, it is said, the request will be made that he be released.

THE APPEAL.

IN FLANDERS FIELD
By Lieut.-Colonel JOHN MCRAE, Physician.
(Died while on duty in Flanders.)

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard among the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

THE PLEDGE.

AMERICA'S ANSWER
By R. W. LILLARD.

Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders dead,
The fight that ye so bravely led We've taken up. And we will keep
True faith with you who lie asleep
With each a cross to mark his bed.
And poppies blowing overhead.
Where once his own life blood ran red,
So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders fields.

Fear not that ye have died for naught,
The torch ye threw to us we caught,
Ten million hands will hold it high,
And Freedom's light shall never die.
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders fields.

THE FULFILLMENT.

A MESSAGE
To Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae and His Comrades in Flanders Fields.

By GEORGE PROPHETER.

Sleep, and rest in peace, McCrae,
We caught "the torch," we've won the day
"That marks our place" whereat the foe,
Now kneeling, and with head bowed low,
The mercy craves his bloody sway
Ne'er showed to living thing that lay
Across his path to block his way
To make the world live speechless woe
To feed his lust.

So, sleep in peace, those "faithful" pray
And pledge their further faith this day:
"A long as larks sing, and 'poppies blow,'
Shall mem'ry's altar be aglow
With love for ye, who sleep for aye,
In Flanders fields!

Third Victim of "The Strangler"

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 11.—A dangerous maniac, possessing superhuman strength and a desire to strangle women to death, was being sought by police here today as a result of the finding of the body of Mrs. Lena Weiner, 32, bound and gagged in bed in her home.

Mrs. Weiner was the third victim of "the strangler" in three weeks and like the others, fought desperately with her assailant before being choked to death, police said.

Expect Greater Tax Slashes

Flight May Be Carried to Floor of Congress for Further Cuts in New Revenue Bill—President in Favor of Cutting Taxes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 11.—Having already flouted Secretary of the Treasury Mellon by cutting taxes in the new revenue bill well over $300,000,000, some members of the House ways and means committee today were preparing to carry a fight to the floor of Congress to lop off another $75,000,000 or $100,000,000.

Unlike former years, some of the strongest agitation for further slashes is coming from Republican leaders in administration ranks.

President Coolidge himself was said today to look with favor upon the general work of the committee in slashing the nation's tax bill.

In most respects the bill represents a compromise between Republican and Democratic leaders, and as such is a non-partisan measure, which both Representative Green, Republican of Iowa, chairman, and Representative Garret, Democrat of Texas, ranking minority member, maintain it is.

Representative Longworth, Republican of Ohio, speaker-designate, and Representative Madden, Republican of Illinois, chairman of the appropriations committee, both believe the House could well raise the cut to $350,000,000, or even higher, and still not unduly disturb the treasury. The house may do this very thing.

When finally completed by the committee, the total reduction is expected to be about $315,000,000, or not much to either side of this figure.

In the House indications are that the ante may be raised several millions by making greater slashes than the committee could agree upon.

Little trouble is anticipated in getting the bill to a vote in the House by Christmas, as administration leaders have hoped for.

Supervisors' Ass'n Elects Officers

Forty Members Attend Annual Meeting at Court House—Annual Banquet to Be Held, Executive Committee to Make Arrangements.

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Supervisors' Association was held in the court room of the court house Tuesday evening immediately after the board of supervisors recessed. There were over forty present. Walter C. Miller, the outgoing president, presided.

Secretary Henry R. DeWitt read the minutes of the previous annual meeting which were approved as read.

Walter G. Geroldsek, treasurer, reported balance on hand of $13.29. The report was adopted.

Officers were elected as follows: President, George Suiter, of Marlborough; vice president, Charles H. Schoonmaker, Esopus; treasurer, Walter G. Geroldsek, Kingston; secretary, Henry R. DeWitt. The nomination and election were unanimous excepting that of treasurer.

Herbert E. Thomas having named William H. Van Etten and stating Mr. Geroldsek had told him he was not a candidate and would not accept, Mr. Geroldsek then announced that he did not wish to be re-elected as he had been treasurer since the organization of the association.

Patrick P. McDermott nominated Mr. Geroldsek, saying the members appreciated the work he did as treasurer. President Suiter named Messrs. Schantz and Heaton as tellers and a vote was taken. Mr. Geroldsek received 29 votes and Mr. Van Etten 10. Mr. Geroldsek was declared elected treasurer by President Suiter, and the election was made unanimous on motion of Mr. Thomas.

Members of the executive committee appointed by the president are John P. Irwin, Edna T. Shukis, Matthew T. E. DeWitt, Philip Schantz, Frank M. Holm.

On motion of Philip Schantz it was decided to hold a banquet, the executive committee to have full power to name the date and make the necessary arrangements.

The matter of membership of funds for expenses for a banquet, etc., was discussed. At the suggestion of Secretary DeWitt it was decided that the dues remain $2 a year and that members attending the banquet be assessed at each extra, and that non-members pay $2 as banquet guests.

Secretary DeWitt announced that there had been the death of a member of the association, a very young man, and that the members of the association who will be present at the banquet will be asked to contribute to a fund for the family.

On motion of the members a resolution was passed and stood in the affirmative that the members of the association who will be present at the banquet will be asked to contribute to a fund for the family.

Father and Four Children Were Burned to Death

Joseph De Stefano and His Four Daughters Victims of a Fire at East Orange—Mother Escapes With Baby in Her Arms.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
East Orange, N. J., Nov. 11.—Five persons were burned to death when flames swept their apartment on the third floor of a six story frame dwelling here early today.

The victims, a father and his four children, were trapped in their bedrooms. The mother escaped death by leaping into the arms of a neighbor, with one of her babies in her arms.

Four persons were injured, none of whom are expected to die.

The dead: Joseph De Stefano, the father, his daughters, Mary, S. Minnie, 6, Rose, 4, and Nancy, 2 years old.

The mother, Mrs. Anna De Stefano was the first to awaken. She seized her 14 months' old baby, Carmello, and rushed to a window. She leaped to the roof of a porch thirty feet below. Then she hurled the child into the arms of George Lasala, a neighbor, who stood on the ground.

Both mother and baby were suffering from burns and they were taken to a hospital.

Mrs. De Stefano screamed to the firemen to go back and get her husband and the children. When firemen got up to the bedroom, all five were dead.

The fire spread through the entire structure, leaving six families homeless. They escaped in their night attire.

Victory Ball at Armory Tonight

Kingston's Seventh Annual Victory Ball will take place tonight at the armory under the auspices of Kingston Post of the American Legion. Music will be furnished by the famous Vincent Lopez Club Orchestra of New York city. The armory doors will open at 7 o'clock, there will be a short concert by this celebrated orchestra from 8 to 8:30, with dancing from 8:30 to 1 a. m.

The advance sale of tickets assures one of the most brilliant and successful social events ever to take place in Kingston. Although a capacity attendance is expected, there will be plenty of room for the dancers.

Victory balls are held on Armistice Night throughout the country. New York city's Victory Ball is held this year in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The proceeds of Kingston's ball will go toward the maintenance of the American Legion Memorial Building and toward the cost of welfare work done in Kingston among disabled veterans and their families.

Tickets will be for sale at the armory door and everyone is invited. There will be few opportunities such as this for the lover of the modern dance. Kingston's dancers are expected in large numbers and there will also be a large attendance of non-dancers who nevertheless wish to participate in the Armistice anniversary festivities.

WATER SPORTS SAFER FOR RED CROSS WORK

Expert Life-Savers and Many Thousand Swimmers Reduce Annual Water Toll.

Water sports in the United States have never been so safe as they are today. A survey of the work done by Life-Saving experts of the American Red Cross in the past year indicates. Thousands of adults and young people were taught to swim proficiently by these experts during this period. In addition, 5,681 men, 4,187 women, and 13,024 juniors successfully passed the rigid tests of the Life Saving Service of the Red Cross. The total thus trained during the year—22,892—is 5,041 more than last year's results. The total membership of the Life Saving Corps of the Red Cross on June 30 was 72,810 persons.

Meeting the demand for qualified instructors and counselors in these camps, are the college men and women of the country, many devoting whole or part of their annual vacation periods to this field. Meeting the need of standardized instruction in Life-Saving, First-Aid, and kindred subjects, the American Red Cross conducted nine First-Aid and Life-Saving Camp Institutes this year with a total attendance of more than 600, in Maine, Massachusetts, New York, North Carolina, Indiana, Wisconsin, Oregon, and California. Representatives of Red Cross Chapters, summer camps, life guards at municipal pools and beaches, directors of physical education in schools, and others of this calibre made up the student body.

A number of city or regional institutions were conducted also during the winter at indoor pools to develop local experts. The aquatic school conducted by the New York Chapter was especially successful, it is stated. Inspired by this system, many camps, pools, bathing beaches, etc., have adopted in whole or in part, the Red Cross Life Saving and water-safety program. In the New England states alone, more than 180 camps employ counselors trained in these methods. A partial survey indicates more than 80 cities using the Red Cross senior test as a minimum requirement for their municipal life guards. Educational institutions have turned to it with enthusiasm.

This widespread instruction besides creating unprecedented numbers of expert life-savers, is developing a vast body of Americans who are at home in the water. All contributes to safety the year-round, for swimming is a recognized all-year sport today, records show.

The danger from water accidents is ever-present however where proper safeguards are not taken and to broaden this valuable Red Cross Service is one of the reasons why increase in membership in the Red Cross is urged. The Annual Roll Call, during which the opportunity to assist all Red Cross-work in many lines of endeavor is extended, will be held from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, November 11-26.

Large Volunteer Work of Red Cross
Volunteers under the Red Cross all over the United States are doing constantly for others, among their products being more than 90 per cent of the Braille reading matter for the blind and a vast production of clothing and surgical dressings.

JUNIOR RED CROSS AIDS PEACE BY BIG GROWTH

Gains 142,000 Members in Year in Schools Throughout United States.

A new high level in peace time membership of the American Junior Red Cross is recorded for 1925—its ranks numbering 5,738,648 school girls and boys—a gain of 142,000.

This unique and powerful children's organization started as a war measure, but today is one of the greatest influences for peace ever known. An increasing participation in local programs of service has featured their year's growth. It is indicated that to a greater degree than ever pupils in the schools are performing individual and collective acts of service in a true Red Cross spirit.

The success of the Junior swimming program, launched last year through co-operation of the Life-Saving Service of the Red Cross, has led to a determination to make it a regular feature of both these branches.

An outstanding feature of the Juniors' work this year was the participation for the first time of a Junior Red Cross worker in the disaster relief operations following the tornado in Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana. Schools in many more fortunate localities displayed a keen interest in sending toys and books for the use of the children in the disaster area.

The Junior Red Cross program has flourished not alone in settled communities, but has been extended to Indian schools, and to native Alaskan schools where many Eskimo children undertook Junior work. In addition, the international correspondence between schools is proving more and more popular. American schools are now corresponding with those in thirty-four countries.

Strong Membership Appeal In Red Cross Disaster Relief

Asking themselves "What if disaster should visit our city?" the leading citizens of many communities of the United States have adopted the Scout motto to "Be Prepared."

Impressed by the frequency and the wide range of peace time calamities in their country, they have organized their communities with the thoroughness which normal conditions permit, against the possibility of a time when there will be no chance for thought or plan. Red Cross Chapters in many localities are similarly prepared.

Says Dangerous Varicose Veins Can Be Reduced at Home

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunions, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that even piles are quickly absorbed. Wm. F. Dedrick sells lots of it.

LUCKY WILD TURKEYS

The lion growls about being the King of the Beasts," said Mr. Wild Turkey.

You mean," corrected Mrs. Wild Turkey, "that he roars about being the King of the Beasts."

Yes, gobble, gobble, gobble, that's what I mean. But if he thinks he can roar about that I can go him one better—or one just as fine anyway."

"What do you mean?" asked Mrs. Wild Turkey, in a much quieter voice, for she couldn't make as much noise as Mr. Wild Turkey could.

"I mean that I am the King of the Game Birds."

"Oh dear, oh dear," said Mrs. Wild Turkey, "don't say that."

"Why not? It's the truth! You can't help but say it is the truth, and I think it is quite nice, quite nice, too."

"It sounds perfectly dreadful to hear such a thing," said Mrs. Wild Turkey.

"Game birds are birds that people shoot and eat."

"Oh don't talk like that, even if it is the truth. That makes it all the harder to hear," Mrs. Wild Turkey said.

She was all aquiver. Her feathers shook.

"There, there, gobble, gobble, gobble," said Mr. Wild Turkey, "calm yourself, my love."

"Calm yourself. Hear me through to the end."

"Very well," said Mrs. Wild Turkey. "I will hear you through to the end—wherever that may be," she added.

"But the subject does make me a little nervous."

"Still as you told me to calm myself perhaps you will talk to me so that I will feel less nervous at the end of your talk."

"I will do that," said Mr. Wild Turkey.

"It is a great honor," he began, "to be the King of the Game Birds but it doesn't alarm you at all, my dear."

"For don't you see? We're safe here in the zoo. We have a beautiful yard of brush and trees which look quite wild, and here we live and are well fed."

"Oh yes," said Mrs. Wild Turkey. "Now I see why you told me to calm myself. You are a wise gobble, you are."

"We are doubly lucky," Mr. Wild Turkey continued, "for, as one of my relatives was saying, there is a special reason for our good luck—or rather we are especially lucky, reason or not."

"When I say that we are doubly lucky it means that we are lucky twice. We are fortunate because we are here in the zoo and can't possibly be killed and eaten as other wild turkeys might very probably be."

"In the second place we are lucky because we are such fine birds with such a royal name and with such beautiful rich brown feathers with other glorious colors worked in, too."

"Then there is the third thing to make us joyful—just what a zoo neighbor said not long ago."

"What is that?" asked Mrs. Wild Turkey.

"We're not like our cousins, the regular barnyard turkeys. They lead a happy life for a while."

"They're well fed, oh, wonderfully well fed—but all for the sake of making them fat so they will be good and tender for Thanksgiving day or Christmas day."

"I don't suppose they mind, though, as they'd rather have a short life full of food than a long one without much food."

"But we aren't going to be used for any celebration. We're safe here in the zoo."

"We're well fed and greatly admired, gobble, gobble, gobble. Gobble, gobble, gobble."

Not Enough for Hogs

The doctor was holding a clinic examining children of school age. One youngster, aged six years, was under weight. The doctor began to make inquiries as to his diet, and the following dialogue took place:

"You don't drink milk?"

"Nope."

"Live on a farm and don't drink milk at all?"

"Nope, we ain't got hardly enough milk for the dogs."

Thinks Were Tunes

Howard never asks for anything to eat, but I know he must be hungry, so I asked, "It is a long time since you had your breakfast. I wonder if you would not like a cookie?"

He answered happily, "Why, Auntie May, our thills are twins."

GAS BUGGIES—What Is A Reputation Among Friends?

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(Copyright 1923 Western Newspaper Union)

Let us be well read, deeply learned and thoroughly grounded in the hidden knowledge of all salads and all potteries whatsoever.—Bosworth and Fletcher.

THE FAMILY MEAL

Most people enjoy a good soup whether vegetable, cream or clear. The first requirement for a good-flavored soup with vegetables is a soup bone with plenty of marrow. Put on the bone covered with cold water; there should be a pound or two of meat either on the bone or added to the kettle. Let simmer for several hours before adding the vegetables—

a slice of cabbage minced, another of turnip, an onion or two, a little celery and a small carrot will make a soup which will call you to dinner from the street. Make a few dumplings and cook them on top of the whole and serve on a great platter like a stew, reserving the soup strained for the first course, or adding it to the stew, and serving in soup plates.

Braised Leg of Lamb.—Bone a leg of lamb, wipe with a damp cloth, stuff and truss, place in a braising pan.

Cook five minutes in one-fourth of a cupful of butter, a large slice each of carrot, onion and turnip (all cut fine),

a small bay leaf, one sprig of thyme and parsley. Add three cupfuls of hot water or stock, one and one-half tea-spoonfuls of salt, one-half teaspoonful of peppercorns. Pour this mixture over the lamb, cover closely and cook slowly

two and one-half hours; uncover the last half hour. Remove from the pan to a hot platter. Brown three tablespoonfuls of butter, add four tablespoonfuls of flour and stir well until browned, then add the liquor from the pan, carefully strained. One and three-fourths cupfuls will be sufficient to make the gravy.

Lemon Sponges.—Soak one-half of an envelope of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water. Dissolve in one cupful of boiling water, add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice and the grated rind of one lemon; strain and set aside to thicken. Stir occasionally, and when quite thick, beat with a wire whisk until frothy; add the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, and pile by spoonfuls into a glass dish. Chill and serve with a boiled custard.

ALL RUN DOWN, NOW HEALTHY

"Honestly, in all my 15 years of experience as a nurse I have never known of a medicine that compares with Tanlac." Is the glowing tribute of Nurse M. E. Chappell.

Time and again I have recommended Tanlac and always with surprising results. Some time ago my Mother complained of being generally run down and on the verge of a nervous breakdown. She had no appetite, her stomach was disordered, digestion weakened and her bowels were most irregular.

Tanlac came to her aid at once, brought on a vigorous appetite so that she began to eat with the greatest relish, and made the digestive organs function properly once more. In a short time she was well, happy and strong, and although over 80 years of age she is now vigorous enough to look after her household duties and go out quite a little, too. This is the best tonic and health builder ever discovered.

What Tanlac has done for others it can also do for you. Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no imitations. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation. Made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.

Girl Shoots Self In Hudson Jail

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Hudson, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Jean Cameron, attractive 25-year-old Chicago girl, today was hovering between life and death in the Hudson City Hospital following an attempt to end her life in a cell in the county jail.

She snatched a gun from the pocket of John Brennan, assistant jailer, as he walked past her cell, and fired a shot which passed close to her heart.

Regaining consciousness for a few minutes after being taken to the hospital, the girl asked that her mother, Mrs. Belle Cameron, 1433 Bellmore avenue, Chicago, be notified.

Miss Cameron was serving a 30 day sentence on a charge of passing a worthless check. This sentence would have expired November 28.

The reason given by officials of the jail for the shooting was that the girl had expressed a dread of being returned to Joliet prison, to complete a term of from one to ten years for stealing an automobile. She was sentenced in Cook county, Ill. in Jan. 1920, under the name of Hazel Burmeister. Subsequently she escaped from Joliet prison, according to a story she told the local authorities.

Society Turns Out for Fashion Revue Held in Greenbrier Ballroom.

White Sulphur Springs.—A fashion show given recently in the ballroom of the Greenbrier by Mme. Najla was an evening exhibit of an intimate character, attended almost exclusively by people well known in New York, Philadelphia and Newport society. A number of smart dinners in the Tudor grill, among them one given by Mrs. Joseph E. Widener, were finished abruptly so that hosts, hostesses and guests might attend the style promenade, the display lasting for two hours and participated in by a dozen mannequins on the ballroom floor. The occasion proved both interesting and brilliant.

The season's mode exemplified in smart fabrics included many metal cloths and brocade, metal broche, chiffons and veils, modern cubistic embellishments designed and executed by Polish and Russian artists.

One of the gowns most modern in feeling was of flat crepe in daring shades of fuchsia and flame springing from a black base, and depending to the floor in a wide, billowing train. Another individual gown had a foundation of silver cloth, over which was worn a tunic of dull fuchsia/chiffon embroidered after an old Peruvian design in silver, gold and copper threads worked down with blue wool.

In a wedding group the bride's gown was of silver cloth with long close sleeves. A tulle veil bordered with a narrow edge of point lace was arranged over a court train of wide point lace held between narrower bands of silver cloth. The bridesmaids' gowns were of orchid mignonette chiffon over silver cloth, and they carried huge bouquets of mauve and orchid flowers tied with long loops and ends of silver ribbon. The matron of honor wore a dress of white panne velvet elaborately beaded, while the bride's mother appeared in a costume of cloth of silver, the bodice embroidered in small rhinestones, the fullness held at the sides with a rhinestone ornament.

A striking evening wrap of pearl white panne velvet, with circular effect, was bordered with white fox and lined with gold tissue. A gown of silver lace cut with a godet skirt and tied with silver ribbon at one side was posed over a slip of white chiffon alternating with stripes of silver, hemmed with a band of silver lace.

There were several gowns of panne

THE LONG CHAIN CHIEZ CALLOT IS A SMART ACCESSORY FOR THE FASHIONABLE WOMEN.

Do not be too impressed with the value of the jewels worn just now; costume jewelry has risen to such a high standard that it is calculated to deceive, although content to be just what it is—an effective ornament.

Long chains are new and far more flattering than short ones. Those who like the choker find they can be wound about the throat and still be sufficiently long. The one sketched is crystal and jet and is worn by the mannequins of Callot.

As the season develops and the necessity for gowns appropriate to opera and horse show wear arises, it is found that there is a great call for rhinestone ornaments, bands and spangles—especially gold ones.

A charming periwinkle blue chiffon gown still unbelted at the back but with a twist of the chiffon across the front at a low line, had its circular skirt heavily spangled with gold paillettes, and underneath the chiffon a wide band of rose ribbon giving a lovely color effect.

Spangles are used more often on the skirt, not only because trimming is inclined to occur there, but because the hard glitter of paillettes is a bit trying toward the face. Sarah Bernhardt claimed that a woman should never wear a jewel or ornament over or under her face, for fear that it might detract from the luster of her eyes.

ARTIST'S WIFE SEEKING HOMES FOR CHILDREN.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Following a winter with her sister, Lady Astor, in England, and a summer in Maine, Mrs. Chies Dana Gibson has returned to New York and assumed an active part in the child placing work of the State Charities Aid Association. Mrs. Gibson is chairman of the association's committee on child placing, and organized the Child Adoption League in connection with it.

Mrs. Gibson said today that she was distressed at the number of orphaned or dependent boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 14 who are without homes. She feels that if the public realized how numerous these homeless children are, and how much they long for homes, many more homes might be secured among the good citizens throughout New York state.

The Child Adoption League, under her direction, will make a special effort during the next few months to find homes for such children as Susan, shy and timid, who wants a home with a big kitchen where she can learn to cook; for Frederick Carl, who wants a home and a dog; for Jane, who loves books and wants to go to high school, and many others waiting for homes and someone to really care for them.

The association during the past twenty-seven years has found homes for 2,800 homeless children, but always experiences difficulty in securing homes for older children. Mrs. Gibson would be especially pleased to hear from persons anywhere in New York state who would consider taking a boy or girl between the ages of 6 and 14. Inquiries should be sent to her in care of the Child Placing Department, State Charities Aid Association, 165 East 22nd street, New York City.

Metal Polish

Metal polish keeps the brasses clean if they are well rubbed. If the brass is to be cleaned for a time after the cleaning, wear the brasses lightly with a little sand and it will keep them from tarnishing. Copper pieces that are a bit black and dirty may be cleaned first with a piece made of three table-spoonsful of lemon, one spoonful of salt and enough vinegar to make a paste; rub the pieces well, then rinse in hot water; then, if they need it, use a copper polish to finish. This is a quick and over-easy way.

QUICK Pie Crust

If you think good pie crust is hard to make try making it with Snowdrift. Use either this recipe or the recipe that you now use.

1 Cupful Flour
1/2 Cupful Snowdrift
5 Table-spoonsful Salt
3/4 Table-spoonsful Baking Powder
3 Table-spoonsful Boiling Water

Sift together the dry ingredients and cut in the Snowdrift with a knife, keeping the mixture flaky. Then add the boiling water and cool the pastry before rolling.

"DEAD MAN" NOTIFIED POLICE HE IS ALIVE.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Two weeks after the body of a suicide had been identified as that of James A. Boyce, a merchant of Denver, Colo., by the latter's daughter, Miss Myra Boyce, Lexington, Ky., and cremated, police were notified today by Boyce himself that he is alive and well.
Boyce, in a letter to Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins, demands an investigation. His daughter, he says, is prostrated as a result of the wrong identification and his wife is ill from the shock.

In Memoriam.
Francis D. Schatzel, who died two years ago today, November 11, 1923. Surrounded by friends we are lonely.

In the midst of our pleasures we are blue.
A smile on our face, still our hearts ache.
Aching and longing for you.
It seems that nothing could part us.
That death with its strength would not do.
There's nothing left now, but the heart ache.

The yearning and longing for you.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 11.—Urgent short covering and low call money rates played an important part in a brisk rally in stock prices today. The sharpest rebounds occurred in the motor and industrial shares which bore the brunt of Tuesday's selling pressure, and which were therefore in greater need by the shorts who desired to cover. But active buying of the oil and railroad stocks at the best prices of the year showed conclusively that bullish movements had not been abandoned.

The extremely small volume of marginal selling made it comparatively easy for the market to recover its poise. As soon as outside buying reached any considerable proportions, the pools and professionals marked up the prices of their stocks and the momentum of aggressive buying accounted for the gradual rise in prices after the first two hours.

Among the outstanding price advances of the day were the 15 point rally in Dupont; the 8 point gain in General Motors, 2 points in United States Steel, 4 points in Baldwin; 5 points in American Can and 6 points in Hudson Motors. There were consistent gains in the railroad and oil stocks.

The commodities markets were generally firm, featured by a 60 point rise in cotton, with December selling at 20.57 cents a pound. This almost wipes out the effect of Monday's reaction.

Best Offer America Can Make Is Submitted to Italian Debt Commission—No Time Set for Italian Reply.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 11.—A new proposal for the settlement of the Italian war debt of $2,138,000,000 was formulated by the American debt commission today and submitted to the Italians shortly after noon.

While its terms were closely guarded, members of the American commission said it could be considered "as the best offer" this government is prepared to make.

It is based upon a thorough consideration of Italy's admittedly unfavorable economic and financial situation, but represents what American experts think she is capable of paying annually.

"We have submitted a proposal to the Italians and are awaiting their reply," said Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

This action of the American commission today followed speedily upon its rejection of a previous offer made by the Italians, which was understood to be considerably lower than even the Belgian settlement plan, which has hitherto been the lowest of any of the debt agreements.

No time was set for the Italian reply, and there was no indication on either side that failure to accept on the part of the Italians would lead to a break in negotiations.

Cowen and Clark Had Fist Fight

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 11.—William J. Clark, Hillsdale, N. J., hammer murder victim, and Joseph Cowen, held as his slayer, engaged in a fist fight two days before Clark was slain in his garage, according to information in the hands of County Prosecutor David.
This evidence was furnished by a neighbor of the Clarks, who was led to divulge what he knew following the filing of a divorce suit against Cowen, in which Mrs. Priscilla Clark is named as co-respondent.

According to the prosecutor's informant, the neighborhood was aware of Cowen's attachment for Mrs. Clark and was not surprised when the two men clashed.

Armed with this information the prosecutor has summoned Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Kent, parents of Mrs. Clark, for further grilling today.

"I am certain the Kents are withholding information," the prosecutor said.

U. S. Possessions In the Pacific Are Inadequate

Major Gerald C. Brant, Veteran Aviator Tells Jury in Mitchell Court Martial—Says Possessions Are at the Mercy of Enemy Fleets.
By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 11.—America's vast empire of island possessions in the Pacific are virtually at the mercy of enemy fleets, Major Gerald C. Brant, veteran aviator attached to the army general staff, testified today at the court martial of Colonel William Mitchell.

Brant substantiated Mitchell's sensational charges that the island defenses would be inadequate in time of war against an enemy fleet supported by airplanes. He declared Mitchell had called this condition to the war department's attention but the flying colonel's recommendations were brushed aside as "personal opinions."

Mrs. Howze Faints.
While Major General D. C. Brant was on the stand, Mrs. Howze, wife of the president of the court, fainted and court recessed in an uproar.

General Howze ran across the court room and held his wife in his arms while Mitchell fanned her. In a few minutes she recovered and was assisted out of the room.

No Cooperation Says Brant.
Brant, who had charge of all army planes in the recent Hawaiian air maneuvers, testified the navy flyers refused to cooperate with the army pilots in the defense of the Hawaiian base.

"There was no cooperation," Brant said, "and could not be except under a unified command."

"What would happen to Hawaii if such a refusal to cooperate came in time of war?" asked Reid.

Recommendations Disapproved.
"It would result in the capture of Pearl Harbor," said Brant.
Brant said that a series of recommendations on improving the air service in the Pacific made by Colonel Mitchell in October, 1924, while assistant chief of the air service, were disapproved by the war plans section because they only represented General Mitchell's personal opinions and no further consideration should be given them.

Target Practice a Joke.
Brant said that "the best flyers are resigning from the service."

As for the army's anti-aircraft target practice, Brant described it as "virtually a joke. The gunners, he said, knew the speed of the planes towing the target, its height and fixed sight and the ship down over a fixed course."

"It is absurd to conduct tests under such conditions and expect to get results which would stand up in war time."

Blames Economy Program.
On cross examination, Colonel Mitchell asked Brant who was to blame for the deficient personnel of the air service.

"The economy program," said Brant.
"Isn't the economy program dependent on the appropriations made by congress?"

"No sir, the appropriations depend on the economy program. The war department asks for a fixed sum due to the economy program, and congress appropriates it," said Brant.

Mitchell Scores.
Earlier Mitchell scored a victory when the court ordered subpoenas issued for 36 defense witnesses.

Representative Frank R. Reid, Republican of Illinois, declared it was his purpose "to prove all of Mitchell's charges as an absolute defense" against his court martial.

Brant said the defense of Hawaii is inadequate and Alaska utterly without protection by American air forces.

The failure of the war and navy departments to secure cooperations between their air forces, Brant would bring disaster to the United States if war broke out in the Pacific.

New Continent in Pacific?

Edwin Tiafak Naulty of New York, for many years a student of the earth's movements, says that the Hawaiian Islands are gradually rising from the sea and that within a generation the group, now containing 6,454 square miles, will be equal in area to Japan. The fact that Japan's area, including the Japanese portion of the island of Sakhalin, is 175,553 square miles, indicates the importance of Mr. Naulty's prediction.

If this forecast be confirmed, Nature will have restored a lost Atlantis in the mid-Pacific and placed under the domination of the American flag a virgin territory more than three times as large as the state of Kentucky. Addition of 196,000 square miles of habitable land to the earth's area would be one of the most remarkable developments in contemporary known since recorded history began.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Arctic Veterans

The Arctic is simultaneously releasing its hold upon two gallant veterans of many battles with ice and berg. The revenue cutter Bear, so long the wanderer of the sealing fleet, is not to find any grave in the Bering sea, and Reid Amundsen's Mass, committed to the drift ice in 1922, instead of following Stefansson's Karolik to the bottom, has been released from the clutch of the ocean north of Siberia and is now on her way to Nome. Amundsen will deem it a piece of good fortune to find only the skeleton of the bold mariners of the air who shared his recent flight from Spitzbergen. No ordinary ship of steel can endure unscathed what these hard-boiled and shrewd old men encountered and survived.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Woman Hurt at Fire Station

Mrs. George Fowler Stepped Through Pole Hole at Central Fire Station While Attending Card Party—Now at Her Home on North Front Street.
By Telegram to The Freeman.

Mrs. George Fowler of No. 47 North Front street had a narrow escape from serious injury when she stepped through a pole hole on the second floor of the Central Fire Station and fell to the bottom floor while attending the card party of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Welner Hose Company Tuesday evening.

The pole hole is located in one of the rooms used by the paid firemen as a bedroom. It is an opening in the floor and when the fire alarm sounds the men in the room grasp the pole and slide down to the first floor.

Tuesday evening the hole was covered over with canvas to keep the fumes and dust from the first floor from penetrating to the upper floor where the card party was held. The room was being used as a cloak room for the ladies attending the card party.

It is thought that Mrs. Fowler while hanging up her garment stepped on the canvas, which gave way, and she fell down the hole, landing on her side.

She was rushed to the Benedictine Hospital, where she spent the night. This morning at 11 o'clock she was removed to her home on North Front street. It is not believed that her injuries will prove serious.

Case Closed in Blazer Trial

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Littleton, Colo., Nov. 11.—The emotional drama of people versus Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, for the slaying of his idiot daughter, which has held the stage in the Arapahoe district court here for the past week, will be given to a jury before night.

It was the belief this morning of attorneys on both sides following announcement last night by Prosecutor Joel Stone that the state rested, after two days and a night session of expert testimony during which three defense alienists testified the old fashion doctor could not distinguish between right and wrong on the day the "humane homicide" was perpetrated.

In rebuttal, the state presented two alienists who declared the defendant was sane and could differentiate between right and wrong on the fateful day, but under cross examination by Defense Attorney L. D. Mowry, the state's alienists made repeated admissions in answer to an involved hypothetical question that were considered favorable to the defense contention.

This arrangement is very helpful when tuning with the headphones, allowing the loud speaker to remain in the circuit at the same time. Others in the room may hear as soon as the operator tunes in a station with the headphones loud enough to operate the loud speaker without the need of changing plugs.

Show Life as It Was in Days of Abraham

There is an exhibition at the British museum of antiquities recovered from the Ur site. Ur of the Chaldees is mentioned in the Bible as the original home of Abraham.

In the collection are pigmy women in flounces, frills or accordion plaits, and wearing all sorts of good-luck charms, consisting of the heads of lions, bulls and frogs.

Four or five thousand years ago children learned grammar and arithmetic. Teaching tablets were unearthed, upon one of which was inscribed "The Property of the Boys' School."

Another exhibit is a piece intended to be inlaid in a casket. Upon it is a beardless figure with long hair, resembling a modern type of intellectual.

Tablets were found on which (in the form of 12 columns) the accounts of a factory run by a temple were recorded. The temple received wool from farmers for tithes or rent, and distributed it to women slaves for weaving.

A strict account was kept of the weight of wool issued, of the amount and quality of the cloth returned, of the measurements specified, and of the names of the persons to whom payment was made, all of which was endorsed by receiving officers and witnesses.

Payments were made in food, which varied according to the production of the worker. An old woman got no more than a child. Death and sickness were noted, so that pay in the one case might cease, and in the other be suspended.

"Pennsylvania Dutch" Is Language Mixture

During 1923 a systematic German immigration into this country began. In the fall of that year a party of Mennonites, the "book-and-eye people" now living all over the country, came from the German city of Crefeld and landed near Philadelphia upon whose shores by William Penn, upon whose invitation they came, Conrad Betschler relates in the Century Magazine. Some time later they founded Germantown, six miles above Philadelphia. Shortly afterward, in successive waves of almost equal numbers, they came one after the other and settled in all parts of Pennsylvania. At the time of the Revolution one-third of the population of Pennsylvania was of German birth or descent. Soon mixing with a virtually new language, more or less a compilation or corruption of the two, which is known today as Pennsylvania Dutch.

Use Jack Box for Phone Connection

One to Four Sets or Loud Speakers May Be Used at Same Time.

A loud speaker is generally used for radio reception, providing there is sufficient volume to warrant its use. On small sets, and even with the more powerful receivers, it is desirable to use headphones while tuning for distant stations. However, extra headphones must be connected in the circuit if more than one person is to enjoy radio in this fashion.

Old Way Has Drawbacks.

The easiest method to connect more than one set of headphones to a set is by wrapping wire around the ends of cord ups, as shown in the illustration.

Quick and Easy Changes Possible by Use of Jack Box.

tration, so that the current must pass through each set in turn before completing the circuit. This method has its drawbacks, for the connections are seldom securely made and they pull loose at the least tug of the cords. One or more pairs of headphones will be shorted whenever two tips accidentally touch each other, causing loud clicks in the remaining headphones in the circuit.

Connected in Series.

The Jack box, designed by Maj. Herbert H. Frost, enables from one to four sets of headphones, or loud speakers, to be used at the same time and quick and easy changes possible. Four simple closed circuit telephone jacks are connected in series and inserted in a small box. When a plug is inserted it opens the circuit and completes the current to flow through the headphones. When the plug is withdrawn the Jack snaps together and allows the current to flow through the circuit as before.

This arrangement is very helpful when tuning with the headphones, allowing the loud speaker to remain in the circuit at the same time. Others in the room may hear as soon as the operator tunes in a station with the headphones loud enough to operate the loud speaker without the need of changing plugs.

Lead-in Insulator of an Improved Design

Many fans use porcelain tubes as insulators when bringing the lead-in through the window sashes. However, as commonly used they are unsatisfactory, since they allow snow, rain and cold air to enter the house. The illustration shows a cross section of an improved insulator.

Two one-inch brass bolts with small heads are soldered to a piece of No. 14 copper wire as shown. The wire should be of such a length that the bolts extend from the ends of the tube about one-half inch. A nut is put on one bolt, and the other bolt and wire are inserted in the tube. The tube is then stood on end and filled with melted resin. A nut on the topmost bolt completes the insulator.—Radio Digest.

Poor Reception Often Due to Parallel Wires

Many times, to make the appearance of the home better, the antenna and ground wires are run either together or parallel to each other, says Radio World. This causes the current in the antenna to leak into the ground (due to the mutual inductive or capacitive relation to the wires) before it reaches the set. You thereby lose some current, which is at best very feeble when it first reaches the antenna. If the little that comes in is diminished, then what cause has any one for expecting good reception. Of course, in the more elaborate outfits (six-tube sets, etc.) you don't notice the loss so much, but in the three and four-tube sets it is very noticeable.

Brass Wire in Antennas

Never use hard drawn brass wire in radio antennas. Although brass is a fairly good conductor of electricity, it has the disadvantage of becoming brittle when exposed to the atmosphere. An antenna in which brass wire is used is apt to snap if exposed to a strong wind.

12 SAVED WHEN BOMB FAILS TO EXPLODE.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—An Armistice Day tragedy was narrowly averted when a loaded bomb, dropped from an airplane circling over the city, crashed through a skylight in a downtown building. The bomb struck in a room where there were 12 persons, but did not explode owing to a defective fuse, according to police.

Whether the bomb came from a military or civilian plane has not been determined. Officials ordered an investigation.

Joint Meeting of Major Leagues

Called by Commissioner Landis For December 10 in New York—Bleacher Boxes, Schedule and Player-Writer Will Be Discussed.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 11.—There will be no more sleight of hand home runs over trick fences during the world series, according to information that reached the writer today. Neither will there be further controversies, such as followed Sam Rice's catch off Earl Smith in the third game at Washington this year.

Judge Landis has called the joint meeting of the major leagues for December 10 in New York and a hot tip is that legislation will be enacted then that will force presidents of contending clubs in the world series to protect all low bleacher fences, with wire screens, such as Barney Dreyfus in Pittsburgh this year. Barney, in fact, is said to be the man behind this project.

He set a worthy precedent in the 1922 series and is said to have most of the club owners behind him. However, his old plans were not letter perfect, either. One of his temporary stands cut too far into the playing space in right field, another encroached dangerously near the foul line in left field and one section of his wire screen near the left field line was lower than the rest of the barrier.

It was over this that Eddie Moore hit his homer that won the sixth game. It was against the other section in deep center field that Joe Harris smashed the longest hit of the series. Without the screen it would have gone for a homer and tied the score in the sixth game.

It has been intimated that Dreyfus will be met on common ground by some of the magnates only in the event that a stated limit be set as to how far a temporary stand may be built out upon the regular playing space or near the field of play.

It promises to be quite a legislative session altogether. As related by the writer weeks in advance of official advice on the subject, Judge Landis will offer a suggestion that the regular season close on the final Saturday in September and that the world series begin not later than October 1. This will mean virtually no loss in revenue to the magnates, since the 154 game schedule will be preserved. Merely a loss of rain hail, sleet, pneumonia and what not to the customers.

Then there is the matter of the athletic literati and their masterpieces committed in the name of expert opinion. It may be that Judge Landis will be asked to bar, eliminate and discontinue the writing of articles by ball players involved in the world series conflicts.

NEW PALTZ NORMAL

QUIET GOING GOOD

After opening their season with a grand rush by defeating Hunter, 60 to 7, last week, the New Paltz Normal quintet will again engage this team this evening on their opponents' court. In this return match the teams will play professional style instead of amateur rules which were used in the earlier match.

In all probability the Normal boys will develop into a likely aggregation this season, having good material. Mike Palen has taken over the coaching of the aggregation. On Friday evening the New Paltz outfit will engage the strong Walden quintet at Walden.

CHARGES DEMITSEY LEFT HIM FLAT.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, Nov. 11.—Charges that Jack Dempsey left him "holding the bag" in Monterey after the champion's hurried departure from that city were made today by Jimmy Fitten, former coast featherweight, who handled Dempsey's Mexican affairs. Fitten declared that Dempsey left him flat with his bride, after acting as best man at the wedding.

Fitten added that, because Dempsey failed to carry out his contract with Monterey interests, he was held responsible by the officials and was forced, under duress, to make statements derogatory to Dempsey.

The last thing Dempsey told me was that he would stop Willis inside of five rounds and then retire for good," Fitten declared.

IRISH-AMERICANS WILL PLAY HIGHLAND FIVE

The local Irish-Americans will journey to the village of Highland Friday night and line up its forces against the crack Highland five.

Last week the Highlanders opened their season against the strong Whalen A. S. losing out by only one point. Consequently the Highland outfit will make a likely opposition for the fast local club which won its opener last week with the Marlborough quintet.

Captain Hoffman has the following men to choose from for Friday night: Vogt, Joyce, Scheffel, DuBois, Smith, O'Reilly and Cahill. Teams in this city or out of town clubs, having courts and wishing a match with the Irish-Americans should communicate with Charles Lamphier, box 771, Kingston, N. Y.

Giants-Rochester Game.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 11.—With three successive victories to their credit over Cleveland, Buffalo and Columbus, the New York Giants, local representatives in the National Football League, will attempt to exact revenge over Rochester in an Armistice Day game at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Rochester scored a victory over the Giants earlier in the season.

Would Change Name of City of Pretzels

Last season two newspaper men in a minor-league city were talking to Umpire Harry Geisel. Both had roasted Geisel several times, but the umpire always had taken the panings good-naturedly.

"Like our town, Harry?" asked one.

"Sure," smiled Harry. "I like it fine."

"Some town," broke in the second.

"Yes," affirmed the first. "the City of Pretzels is a great burg; we're really quite proud of it."

"A-hem," assented Harry. "But they should call you the 'City of Opportunity.'"

"Opportunity?—How come, Harry?" they both queried.

"Why, because," grinned the umpire, "you're always knocking."

HITS AT SLAVERY IN SOCCER GAME

English Prelate Says Modern Football Savors Much of Servitude.

Assertion in a sermon by the Bishop of Peterborough, Dr. C. O. B. Bardley, that soccer football players in England were "bought and sold almost like slaves," has stirred up a hornet's nest among sportsmen, who have rushed into print to deny the clergyman's contention. The bishop, preaching at Leicester, said he regretted the extension of professionalism to football "which has done as awful lot to ruin our games."

To this he added: "I seem to see football players being bought and sold almost like slaves, and human machines trained as gladiators. It is the ruin of club patriotism. Football is too great a game to be spoiled in this manner."

A. J. Darnell, of Northampton, president of the Southern League, among others, replied to the bishop, maintaining that the statement comparing the transfer of football players to slaves was all "nonsense."

"A player is a free agent," said Mr. Darnell, "and he may refuse or accept an offer as he himself sees fit. He receives, if transferred, a substantial proportion of the transfer fee, and it invariably means his promotion to a higher class of football."

Boat Racing Expensive for Two English Clubs

Everything seems to cost about twice as much as before the war, racing boats not excepted. The Oxford-Cambridge boat race cost the two university clubs about $15,000, just about double the prewar outlay.

A racing shell could be built for about $325 previous to 1914, they are now $650 apiece. Oars also cost now $10 each, compared with $5 before the war.

The actual implements of the race form only a small proportion of the total expenditure. Although no allowances are made to the crews while in their university quarters, from the time they start for the midway course their respective boat clubs pay their traveling, lodging, food and other necessary expenses, which runs to about $7,500 each for Oxford and Cambridge. There is no revenue to offset this sum, as the boat race is an entirely free show.

Classic by Walter Mails

Walter Mails, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, is credited with a classic in one Coast league city. The bases were filled with enemy runners, two out, score tied and three balls and two strikes on the batter. Any fan knows the breathless condition of thousands of spectators under such circumstances. Dwyer caught the squirt of the unbridled suspense correctly. Stepping off the mound for a moment, he took off his cap and spoke as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—Either I do or I don't on this pitch."

MANY PENN STARS ARE NOW COACHING

At Least 24 Football Players Are Mentors at Various Colleges.

At least two dozen former University of Pennsylvania football stars are in coaching roles this season. Line men lead by 14 to 10. The list covers a span of at least 34 years starting with John W. Heisman, who is starting his third year at Rice institute, Houston, Texas; and winding up with five members of last year's undefeated eleven.

Andy Smith, full-back on the undefeated 1904 team, has been in the coaching line for a number of years. His University of California teams have not been beaten in the last five years. Dr. Le Roy Mercer, Penn's All-American full-back in 1910 and 1912, continues at Swarthmore, where he has done very well in recent years.

The two Millers—Allie and Heinle—have coaching jobs in extreme ends of the Keystone state. Allie, a former red and blue captain, has charge of the Washington and Jefferson backs again and Heinle, the flashy end of six years ago, after serving a few years as coach at St. Joseph's college, took up his new duties at Temple university this fall.

Lou Little, who rounded out his career as tackle at the university on the same 1919 team as Heinle Miller, returned to Georgetown university where he is head coach and also director of athletics.

Dr. M. S. (Mike) Bennett returned to the University of the South. Chuck Adams, center of two seasons ago, coached the Coxsage college line on the Pacific coast last season and renewed his contract. Vincent S. Welch, a backfield man, is a successful coach at Hobart college.

Capt. Rae McGraw, Ted Fairchild, Ed McGinley, All-American tackle; Clark Craig and Frank Dewhurst of last year's undefeated team, have made coaching debuts this season.

Six Boxing Titles Pass During the Past Year

Several changes on the list of world's champion boxers were predicted last year at this time but no one figured that in another year only three titleholders of the time would remain.

Six changes in major championships have taken place this year, and only Jack Dempsey, Harry Greb and Mickey Walker remain as champions. Benny Leonard retired and was succeeded by Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, the survivor of the elimination tournament organized by the New York boxing commission to fill the vacancy.

Johnny Dundee vacated the world's featherweight championship and was succeeded by Kid Kaplan, the supervisor of the elimination tournament. Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, was beaten by Paul Berlenbach, former Olympic wrestler.

Abe Goldstein lost the world's bantamweight championship to Eddie Martin and Martin was defeated later by Charley Rosenberg.

"Bald Eagles" Must Pay

New York fans call catchers Schang and Bengough, Miller Huggins' "bald eagles," which recalls a little piece of sideplay from one of the hotel barbers who does the tonorial work for the players.

It happens that this barber always jokingly apologizes for charging 60 cents (New York price) for trimming their hair. He explains: "Well, you see, it's this way. I don't charge 60 cents for the cutting; I only charge a dime for that, the other 50 cents being for the time it takes me to find the hair."
